Health Plan of San Joaquin, a not-for-profit, public health plan, has been serving members and the community since 1996. Located in the heart of California's multicultural Central Valley, HPSJ is the leading Medi-Cal managed care provider in San Joaquin and Stanislaus counties. HPSJ offers a broad network of providers and works closely with physicians to develop programs and services to ensure quality health care for over 400,000 members who include working families with children, seniors and disabled residents.

HPSJ supports WHIT because they foster growth opportunities, offer a network of partnerships and promote collaboration for women in the Healthcare Information Technology space. As a leader in healthcare and IT, I hope that we can support others achieving their goals at any level within such an important industry.
